3. PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE & SKILLS DEVELOPMENT.

IT Innovation Club Leader

Muteesa 1 Royal University, Department of IT

March 2025 - Present

Coordinate weekly sessions for a group of first-year students, allocating tasks and keeping everyone on track.

Handle troubleshooting requests from classmates calmly and one at a time, even when several come in at once.

Write short, plain-language guides so people with little technical background can follow a process correctly on their own.

4. KEY SKILLS AND COMPETENCIES.

Community & rural background: Grew up in Bujjumba, Kalangala, a farming community, giving a natural familiarity and comfort with agricultural life and smallholder livelihoods.

Computer literacy; Confident with computers and Android devices, able to pick up new record-keeping or reporting systems quickly without much hand holding.

Accurate record-keeping; Detail-oriented by training, with an understanding of how important precise, complete records are for accountability in any transaction-based process.

Multi-tasking under pressure; Has managed several competing academic demands at once and stayed organised; comfortable working in a fast-moving environment.

Clear communication; Strong written and verbal communication, with practice breaking down technical or procedural information for people who aren't technical a habit built from training and guiding peers.

Reliability and flexibility; Willing to extend working hours during busy periods and adapt to seasonal or changing work rhythms.

5. OTHER RELEVANT INFORMATION

Relocation: Open to relocating for the right opportunity and settling into a new duty station full-time.

Local/rural exposure; Lives in Kalangala, a farming community, and is comfortable working alongside smallholder farmers and cooperative operations rather than only in an office setting.

Availability; Immediately available and ready to work extended or irregular hours as the work demands.

6. REFEREES
